IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF ARIZONA

Rooter Hero Phoenix Incorporated, et al.,

No. CV-22-00220-PHX-JJT

Plaintiffs,

ORDER

V.

Jordan Beebe, et al.,

Defendants.

At issue is Defendants Brittany and Jordan Beebe's Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees and Non-Taxable Expenses (Doc. 44, Mot.), to which Plaintiffs Rooter Hero Phoenix, Inc. and Call Pro's, Inc. filed a Response in opposition (Doc. 52, Resp.) and Defendants filed a Reply (Doc. 54, Reply). The Court resolves Defendants' Motion without oral argument. LRCiv 7.2(f).

I. BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Rooter Hero Phoenix, Inc. provides plumbing services and co-Plaintiff Call Pro's, Inc. is its licensing arm. Defendants Jordan and Brittany Beebe are husband and wife who operate Defendant Rooter Ranger, LLC, another plumbing service provider. On February 10, 2022, Plaintiffs, who are represented by counsel, filed a civil action against Defendants raising claims of (1) trademark infringement and unfair competition under the Lanham Act, “15 24 U.S.C. §§ 1116, 1117”; (2) criminal theft under Arizona’s criminal code, A.R.S. § 13-1802; (3) conversion of chattel under A.R.S. § 12-542; (4) “extortion

1 criminally and civilly,” under no identified legal authority; and (5) “racketeering or pattern 2 of unlawful activities” under Arizona’s criminal code, A.R.S. § 13-2314.04.

3 The next day, the Court entered an Order (Doc. 7) stating that motions to dismiss 4 under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b) “are discouraged if the defect that would be 5 the subject of the motion can be cured by filing an amended pleading.” Accordingly, the 6 Court required the parties to “meet and confer prior to the filing of a motion to dismiss . . .
 7 to determine whether it can be avoided” and required any party filing a motion to dismiss 8 to separately file a notice of certification of conferral with opposing counsel. (Doc. 7.) 9 Moreover, the Court advised that the “parties shall endeavor not to oppose motions to 10 amend that are filed prior to the Rule 16 Scheduling Conference.” (Doc. 7.)

11 On March 30, 2022, Plaintiffs filed a Motion to Amend under Federal Rule of Civil 12 Procedure 15(a). (Doc. 20.) Because Defendants did not oppose the amendment and instead 13 reserved their rights to challenge the claims in the proposed First Amended Complaint 14 (FAC) in a motion to dismiss under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12, the Court granted
 15 the Motion to Amend. (Doc. 25.) Plaintiffs then filed the FAC on April 21, 2022. (Doc. 26.)

16 Defendants filed Motions to Dismiss the FAC on May 5, 2022. (Docs. 30, 31.) In 17 conjunction with their Motions, Defendants filed the required Notice of Certification of 18 Conferral (Doc. 32) in which they explained that counsel for Defendants first provided 19 counsel for Plaintiffs with the grounds for Defendants to seek dismissal of Plaintiffs’ claims 20 upon Plaintiffs’ filing of the initial Complaint. Counsel for Defendants attempted to meet 21 and confer with counsel for Plaintiffs, as required, but the record—both at the time and in 22 the briefing on the present Motion for Attorneys’ Fees—demonstrates that Plaintiffs’ counsel 23 declined to participate in the requested meet and confer, instead filing the Motion to Amend 24 (Doc. 20) that, as mentioned above, Defendants did not oppose. (Docs. 32, 44, 54.)

25 After Plaintiffs filed the FAC, the record also shows that counsel for Defendants 26 again contacted counsel for Plaintiffs to plan a meet and confer to discuss the grounds 27 Defendants had to move to dismiss the FAC prior to Defendants’ deadline to file the 28 motion, and counsel for Plaintiffs again declined to timely meet and confer. (Docs. 32, 44,

1 54.) When Defendants filed their promised Motions to Dismiss (and Notice of Certification
 2 of Conferral), Plaintiffs failed to respond, instead filing a Second Amended Complaint 3 (SAC) (Doc. 33).

4 In the Motions to Dismiss, Defendants demonstrate that Plaintiffs' Lanham Act 5 claim fails because it is time barred and in any event no allegations support the inference 6 of the requisite effect on interstate commerce; Plaintiffs' claims under Arizona's criminal 7 statutes fail because those statutes do not convey a private right of action; Plaintiffs' 8 common law conversion claim fails because it is time barred and in any event no factual 9 allegations support such a claim; Plaintiffs' common law fraud claim fails because 10 Plaintiffs allege third parties, not Plaintiffs, were defrauded; and Plaintiffs' Racketeering 11 Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act ("RICO") claims fail because Plaintiffs' 12 allegations of Defendants' predicate acts were not acts directed at Plaintiffs and no 13 allegations support the inference that Defendants were an "enterprise." (Docs. 30, 31.)

14 Plaintiffs' SAC—had the Court let it stand—did not resolve any of these defects.
 15 But because counsel for Plaintiffs did not meet and confer with counsel for Defendants—16 twice—regarding the grounds for dismissal Defendants laid out in their Motions to 17 Dismiss, as the Court explicitly required, and instead filed another amended pleading, the 18 Court struck the SAC as filed in contravention of the Court's Order. (Doc. 42.)

19 Moreover, Plaintiffs did not respond to the Motions to Dismiss, as required by the 20 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and Local Rules. As the Court noted in its prior Order 21 (Doc. 42), the filing of an amended pleading does not relieve a plaintiff from the obligation 22 to respond to a Rule 12 motion to dismiss, and Local Rule 7.2(i) states that the Court may 23 deem the failure to file a response to a motion as consent to the granting of the motion. See 24 Brydges v. Lewis, 18 F.3d 651, 652 (9th Cir. 1994) (per curiam). Because the Court agreed 25 with each of the grounds for dismissal laid out by Defendants in their Motions to Dismiss, 26 and Plaintiffs failed to respond, the Court granted the Motions to Dismiss. Implicit in that 27 decision was a finding that Plaintiffs could not cure the defects in their pleading by 28 amendment, and the Court entered judgment and closed this matter. (Doc. 42.)

1 Defendants Brittany and Jordan Beebe now seek their reasonable attorneys' fees 2 and non-taxable costs for defending in this matter.

3 II. ANALYSIS

4 A. Eligibility and Entitlement

5 Defendants argue that they are eligible for and entitled to attorneys' fees on three 6 bases, namely, two of the individual statutes under which Plaintiffs brought failed claims—7 A.R.S. § 13-2314.04 (civil racketeering) and 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a) (Lanham Act)—and a 8 federal attorneys' fees statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1927, coupled with the Court's inherent powers.
 9 (Mot. at 2.) The Court will focus its analysis on the third basis, which applies to and 10 provides Defendants with eligibility for an attorneys' fees award for all of Plaintiffs' 11 claims.

12 Under 28 U.S.C. § 1927, “Any attorney or other person . . . who so multiplies the 13 proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously may be required by the court to 14 satisfy personally the excess costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees reasonably incurred 15 because of such conduct.” The Court also possesses inherent authority to issue sanctions 16 including the costs of attorneys' fees and expenses. B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dept., 27 F.3d 17 1091 (9th Cir. 1091). Under this authority, sanctionable conduct includes that “which 18 abuses the judicial process,” Chambers v. NASCO, Inc., 501 U.S. 32, 44-45 (1991), and 19 “sanctions are available if the court specifically finds bad faith or conduct tantamount to 20 bad faith,” Fink v. Gomez, 255 F.3d 989, 994 (9th Cir. 2001). While a finding of 21 recklessness is sufficient for the Court to impose sanctions under 28 U.S.C. § 1927, 22 sanctions under the Court’s inherent authority require recklessness combined with “an 23 additional factor such as frivolousness, harassment, or an improper purpose.” Id. A claim 24 is frivolous when it “is groundless with little prospect of success” and “foreclosed by 25 binding precedent or so obviously wrong as to be frivolous.” Primus Auto. Fin. Servs. Inc.
 26 v. Batarse, 115 F.3d 644, 649 (9th Cir. 1997). In sum, a court’s exercise of its inherent 27 sanctioning power is appropriate when there has been “willful disobedience of [a] court 28

1 order . . . or when the losing party has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for 2 oppressive reasons . . . ” Id. at 991 (internal quotation omitted).

3 To begin with, a number of Plaintiffs’ claims were frivolous on their face, and 4 counsel for Plaintiffs persisted in attempting to bring them. For example, Plaintiffs’ counsel 5 repeatedly brought claims under Arizona’s criminal code—in the Complaint, FAC, and 6 SAC—when it is beyond discussion or dispute that criminal statutes do not provide 7 Plaintiffs with a private right of action. Defendants also point out that Plaintiffs’ counsel 8 included allegations in the pleadings with the clear purpose of harassing Defendants, such 9 as allegations that non-parties to this lawsuit were spreading “unsubstantiated rumors” that 10 Defendant Jordan Beebe “sexually assaulted a family member.” (Doc. 26, FAC ¶ 138.)
 11 Moreover, after Plaintiffs’ counsel requested leave to file the FAC but before obtaining 12 such leave from the Court, Plaintiffs’ counsel filed a “Return of Service on the Arizona 13 Attorney General” based on a prayer in the proposed FAC that the Court order the Arizona 14 Attorney General—a non-party—to launch a criminal investigation into Defendants.
 15 (Doc. 21.) Because Plaintiffs’ counsel provided no legal basis for the requests, the Court 16 entered an Order striking the Return of Service. (Doc. 23.) In sum, Plaintiffs’ counsel not 17 only acted recklessly by unreasonably multiplying these proceedings, but his actions were 18 tantamount to bad faith—that is, lacking an honesty of purpose—where he brought 19 frivolous claims and allegations with the intent to harass Defendants.

20 The record, as the Court summarized above, also demonstrates that Plaintiffs’ 21 counsel willfully disobeyed the Court’s order in bad faith or for oppressive reasons.
 22 Specifically, Plaintiffs’ counsel willfully failed to meet and confer with Defendants’ 23 counsel regarding defects in Plaintiffs’ pleadings, as required by the Court’s Order 24 (Doc. 7), and Plaintiffs’ counsel willfully failed to address (or, it appears, even read) 25 Defendants’ grounds for dismissing Plaintiff’s claims—all of which had merit—before 26 filing amended pleadings, defeating the very purpose of the Court’s Order (Doc. 7).

27 Thus, the Court finds that Plaintiffs’ counsel is liable under 28 U.S.C. § 1927 and 28 the Court’s inherent authority, and Defendants are eligible for and entitled to reasonable

1 attorneys' fees and untaxable costs under 28 U.S.C. § 1927 and the Court's inherent 2 authority.

3 B. Reasonableness

4 The Beebe Defendants seek $37,050.50 in fees and $2,029.78 in non-taxable costs.
 5 (Reply at 2.) To determine whether attorneys' fees requested are reasonable, courts apply 6 the lodestar method. Six Mexican Workers v. Ariz. Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1311 7 (9th Cir. 1990). The lodestar approach consists of two steps. Welch v. Metro. Life Ins. Co., 8 480 F.3d 942, 945–46 (9th Cir. 2007). “First, the court establishes a lodestar by multiplying 9 the number of hours reasonably expended on the litigation by a reasonable hourly rate,” 10 excluding from the requested amount “any hours that are excessive, redundant, or 11 otherwise unnecessary.” Id. (internal citation omitted). Then, in rare cases, “the district 12 court may adjust the lodestar upward or downward using a multiplier based on facts not 13 subsumed in the initial lodestar calculation.” Id. (internal citation omitted).

14 In their Motion, Defendants have duly provided the Court with counsel’s detailed 15 lodestar records, (Mot. Ex. B), and the other documentation supporting the request for fees 16 and costs as required by Local Rule 54.2 (Mot. Ex. B; Reply Ex. C). In their Response, 17 Plaintiffs do not challenge the reasonableness of Defendants’ requested fees and non-18 taxable costs.

19 Defendants base the requested fee amount on the hourly rates of their counsel, (Mot.
 20 Ex. B), and the Court finds those rates do not exceed the market rate and finds no other 21 basis for concluding that the rates are not reasonable. See LRCiv 54.2(c)(3); Kerr v. Screen 22 Extras Guild, Inc., 526 F.2d 67, 70 (9th Cir. 1975). Likewise, to the extent the Court could 23 review them, the Court finds the number of hours expended to be reasonable and no 24 redundancy or lack of necessity in the work reportedly completed. The Court also finds no 25 reason to adjust the lodestar upward or downward. See Kerr, 526 F.2d at 70.

26 Certain of Defendants’ billing entries are redacted, which Defendants report are 27 protected by attorney-client privilege. Even if that is true, without the ability to review the 28 unredacted records under seal, the Court cannot evaluate the work completed that is the 1 subject of those entries. As a result, the Court will reduce the fee award by the amount 2 reported in redacted entries where those entries were not already discounted or omitted 3 from Defendants' calculation. Totaling 0.3 hours at $460/hour, 1.7 hours at $375/hour, and 4 6.0 hours at $260/hour, the resulting reduction in the fee award is $2,335.50, bringing the 5 fee total to $34,715.00.

6 In sum, the Beebe Defendants have demonstrated entitlement to attorneys' fees and 7 non-taxable costs in this matter as well as the reasonableness of the requested amount—8 which Plaintiffs did not challenge—minus the adjustment indicated above. Moreover, 9 Defendants have complied with Local Rule 54.2 in providing the required supporting 10 documentation. Accordingly, the Court will award Defendants $34,715.00 in reasonable 11 attorneys' fees and $2,029.78 in non-taxable costs, to be paid by Plaintiffs' counsel under 12 28 U.S.C. § 1927 and the Court's inherent powers.

13 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED granting in part Defendants' Motion for Award
14 of Attorneys' Fees and Non-Taxable Expenses. (Doc. 44.)

15 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants Brittany Beebe and Jordan Beebe 16 are entitled to an award of attorneys' fees in the amount of $34,715.00, and an award of 17 non-taxable costs in the amount of $2,029.78, plus interest accruing at the statutory rate, to 18 be paid by Plaintiffs' counsel. This case remains closed.

19 Dated this 25th day of January, 2023.
